AMUSEMENTS

"THE SPOILERS" AT THE BUTLER TONIGHT.

There are pictures and pictures—the better ones will stand repeating once—the best ones twice, but in "The Spoilers," Rex Beach's greatest Alaska story, we have a picture which has stood the gruelling test of repetition at least once a year throughout the entire country ever since its production several years ago, at which time it was looked upon as a masterpiece, and still enjoys that distinction.

Its drawing power has never diminished—it appeals to all classes, all ages—which is something very, very few pictures can boast of. There is something doing every minute; you are afraid to take your eyes off the screen for a moment for fear you might miss something of interest. You remember the character of "Flapjack" and the cook at the road-house, the Northern dance hall, the "Broncho Kid," the beautiful character portrayed in "Cherry Malotte," the dance hall girl (Kathryn Williams), and the memorable fight between McNamara (Tom Santelli) and William Forman.

This picture will be shown at the Butler tonight. One matinee and two night shows. The first night show will start at 6:45 instead of 7 o'clock on account of the length of the program.

Tomorrow, another knockout, Charles Ray, in "The Clodhopper," a picture that is at least three or four years old, but is today considered to be one of this star's very best productions.

STATE URGES TONOPAH TO BUY SEWER BONDS

The Nevada public service commission has made a ruling rejecting the application of the Tonopah Sewer and Drainage company to increase rates for sewer service in Tonopah and ordering that the present schedule of rates on file with the commission remain in effect.

In reviewing the application the commission has the following to say in urging the citizens of Tonopah to take over the sewer system as a means of improving sanitary conditions and reducing cost of operation.

"The commission has, in the past, suggested alternative methods of making this sewer system of greater value to the people of Tonopah.

One suggestion was to create a sanitary district in which all buildings would be required to make connections as to the sewer system. By thus increasing the number of connections, the operating costs would not be materially increased, and the charge to the individual consumer could be reduced. This procedure would also enable the sewer company to earn an adequate return on its investment.

"Another method suggested for the improvement of service is for the town of Tonopah to buy the sewer system and operate it at public expense. It is believed that more general use of the sewer system would greatly improve the sanitary conditions in the community. Attention is called to the fact reported by the engineer for the commission, that only about 20 per cent of the buildings with water connections have corresponding sewer connections.

"In March, 1919, the commission was asked to appraise the system and its engineer was sent to Tonopah during April, 1919, for the purpose. He estimated the investment in the property to be approximately $70,000. At that time the Tonopah Sewer and Drainage company offered to sell the sewer system to the town for $60,000, a figure materially less than the actual investment in the enterprise. The overhead expense
